

FORAKER IN DENIAL OF MULHALL CHARGES

FORMER SENATOR CAUSES SOME AMUSEMENT BY ATTITUDE TAKEN TOWARD IN-FORMER.

TO EXAMINE LETTERS

Special House Committee Begin Work
On Lobby Case With Examination
Of Several Witnesses.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Congressional investigation of Martin M. Mulhall's story of his alleged lobbying activities for the National Association of Manufacturers took on a dual aspect today when the special house committee began grilling the thousands of letters introduced before the senate committee and prepared to cross-examine Mulhall on his claims of influence with various representatives. The first part of the day was taken up with preliminary testimony by Louis Seibold, of the New York World.

Foraker Examined.
The senate committee having finished with Mulhall began hearing some of the men referred to in his correspondence. Former Senator Foraker was the first and he generally denied Mulhall's claims of influence with him. Discussing the list of public men classified as those whom the National Association of Manufacturers had difficulty in reaching and influencing for business, political, or sympathetic reasons, Mr. Seibold testified he had no purpose of implying any "moral obliquity" or "legislative impropriety" to the men mentioned.

"The basis for this list," said Mr. Seibold, "was the Mulhall letters, his personal narrative and statements he made to me."

Discover New Letters.
He told the committee that four or five hundred new letters had been discovered within the last two or three days in which Representative Fairchild of New York was mentioned. "I did not think Mulhall was as great a man as he thought he was and I did not think he had as great influence as he thought he had. I did not take him so seriously as he did himself," said Foraker.

In contrast to those who have denounced Mulhall as a liar, Foraker amused his hearers by the calm way he talked of Mulhall's desire to appear with prominent men, talk with them and report what they thought they thought to his employers.

Numerous Denials.
Foraker denied that he ever favored any legislation wanted by the National Association of Manufacturers or that he talked with Mulhall about legislation in Washington. He said he talked with men in the capitol, however, in those days about legislation.

PRESENT INVASION PLANNED BY CASTRO ON GERMAN SOJOURN

Former Venezuelan Dictator Drafted
His Proclamation Recently Issued
While Visiting Friend
at Dresden.

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 5.—Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, planned his present invasion of that country while he was staying in Dresden for some time. He lived there for some time quietly with a German friend, Herman Wolfman.

Castro arrived in Dresden on Monday 26th shortly after reaching Hamburg from the United States. A fortnight afterward he succeeded in making a false start in convincing inquirers that he had gone to Paris and eventually to the Canary Islands. Instead, however, he remained the guest of Wolfman, and while in his house drafted the proclamation to the Venezuelan people which he issued at Coro on July 27. Castro left Dresden early in July for Venezuela.

In a letter today his friend, Wolfman in Dresden, writes: "Now that Castro has again established himself in Venezuela, where the overwhelming majority of the people, and above all, the most important part of the army are on his side, it can scarcely be doubted that he will soon re-enter Caracas in triumph and become again the leader of the destinies of Venezuela."

The departure of the sloop Palma which had been making voyages between Curacao and La Yola de Coro, a port on the Venezuelan state of Falcon, was prevented by the authorities here Sunday night. The vessel had been conveying groups of politicians and provisions to the aid of Cipriano Castro. The consul's protest declared that the Palma was carrying false ship papers. The vessel was, however, permitted to leave today.

WILL ATTEMPT ENDORSEMENT OF T. HANCOCK NOMINATION

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—If the senate attendance proves sufficient, it appears that enough senators will support the confirmation, another effort will be made Thursday to secure senatorial endorsement of the nomination of Thomas J. Hancock as member of the state industrial commission. This is apparent from the fact that Senator F. F. Kileen, the governor's floor leader in the upper house, yesterday telephoned to senators to ascertain whether they had changed their minds since the senate rejected Mr. Hancock's name ten days ago. It is expected the legislature will adjourn sine die late Thursday.

SUPERIOR STRIKERS WIN THEIR DEMANDS FOR HIGHER WAGES

Ore Dock Workers Ready to Return To Work When They Secure A Victory Over Employers.

Superior, Wis., Aug. 5.—Strikers at the Allouez ore docks at Superior were conceded a victory late last night and a settlement is near. J. C. Morrell dock superintendent said last night that most of the strikers' demands will be granted. This includes a fifteen-cent 2 day raise in wages, a guarantee to put lights on all the cars that are handled at night and doing away with the open ore pockets.

At a meeting of the strikers called for this morning the new wage schedule will be presented by a committee headed by F. H. Little an organizer of the J. W. W. who has been directing the strike. The concessions made by the company are expected to be satisfactory.

Under the old scale the men were paid $3 for Sunday work, $2.50 for day labor and $2.75 for night work. They asked for $3.50 for Sunday, $3.00 for night and $2.75 for day shifts of ten hours. The threat of the company to bring in new labor will not be carried out, according to dock superintendent Morrell, if the men start work this morning.

Steam vessels have been tied at the Great Northern docks for the past two days, awaiting for ore cargos. Saturday there were twenty-two boats crowded around the docks but six have been transferred to other loading docks at Duluth, Ashland and Two Harbors.

RECOMMEND DRAINING OF HORICON MARSHES

Railroad Commission Reports That Proposed Project Will Improve Existing Conditions.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—That the draining of the marshes through the city of Horicon for the drainage of 40,000 acres of land in Horicon marsh will improve existing conditions is the effect of a report made by the railroad commission of Governor McGovern today. The drainage of the marsh involves the deepening of the Rock river and complaint was made to the governor by E. G. Bennett and others of Horicon asking that the work be arrested before it was completed. An ordinance passed a year ago last March by the common council of Horicon.

The marsh is one of the largest of the state and the drainage project proposed is supposed to make much of the submerged and marshy lands available for agricultural purposes. Differences of opinion regarding the proposed undertaking became so pronounced that the city council and the board of directors of the Horicon marsh drainage project directed the railroad commission to have its engineers conduct an investigation. Among other reasons Mr. Bennett states that the ordinance proposed is in violation of the state constitution in that it would deprive the city of the right to make improvements in the marsh.

Harrop's report is supplemented by one by Chief Engineer C. A. Leding who states that the drainage operation will leave the outlet at a point at least as low as the present outlet "it does not appear to me that there will be any increase in stagnation of the water in the marsh. It is likely to be a considerable supply of water from the seventeen miles of ditches with the laterals which will be made at the Horicon marsh."

BANKS MANIPULATE GOVERNMENT BONDS?

Secretary McAdoo Conducts Quiet Investigation Regarding Alleged Conspiracy in Wall Street.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Secretary McAdoo is conducting a quiet investigation to obtain evidence to sustain his charge that a conspiracy of the United States 2 percent bonds was due "almost wholly to what appears to be a campaign waged, with every indication of concerted action, on the part of a number of influential New York City banks to cause apprehensions and uneasiness about these bonds, in order to help them in their efforts to defeat the currency bill."

Senator Sainsbury of Delaware discredited the claim that the bonds were sold today for the democrats and warned against waste of time in long debate.

Asserting that "protection and socialism are twin evils and ill-omened birds," Senator Sainsbury declared that protection had reached its end and a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Hobson of Alabama.

FIGHT ON CURRENCY MEASURES REVEALS DEMOCRATS DIVIDED

Accentuated in Skirmish in Senate—
Senator Owen Opposes Currency
Committee Forced Off Floor.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The first skirmish over currency legislation in the senate today seemed to accentuate the division of opinion among democrats. Senator Owen, chairman of the banking committee and sponsor of the administration bill in the upper chamber, was forced off the floor by Senator Hitchcock, a democrat, while he was attempting to reply to an attack on immediate legislation delivered by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, another democrat and member of the banking committee. Senator Smith's point of order that the tariff and not currency was before the senate, forced Mr. Owen to yield, but he announced he would reply to Mr. Hitchcock's speech later.

In presenting this resolution, Senator Hitchcock said, "I do not agree with the authors and am strongly opposed to the attempts to pass any comprehensive currency legislation in the expiring session of the extra session. I am certainly opposed to taking up the resolutionary bill the senator from Oklahoma has introduced."

Referring to the arguments that currency legislation was necessary to forestall any possible business disturbance Senator Hitchcock said: "This argument is most fallacious. It is utterly out of the question to use this bill as an emergency measure because it takes at least a year of the organization to put it into effect after its passage. Those who think we can pass it in one week and in the following week the country will have a hundred million dollars of additional currency with easy credit, are woefully mistaken."

TO RAISE STANDARD OF RURAL TEACHERS

Law Recently Enacted Requires That Each Teacher Have at Least One Year of Training School.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—Following the volume of other legislation at the time, one piece of lawmaking in favor of the rural schools which school men regard as epochal in this session particularly escaped notice when it was passed in the last days of the session. The bill gives state aid to high schools which maintain training courses for teachers in rural schools. A companion measure requires that every rural school teacher have at least one year of training in a training school before being allowed to teach.

"These measures mean more for the rural schools of the state than any single piece of legislation enacted, said J. B. Bonder, assistant state superintendent. "Many of the girls now teaching in rural schools are only 17 or 18 years old. They obtain a third grade certificate and go out to teach for one year. The legislation enacted at this session will keep teachers in school longer, and when they go out they will be prepared and be able to acquire a first grade certificate. It will do more for the rural schools than any legislation enacted at this session will keep teachers in school longer, and when they go out they will be prepared and be able to acquire a first grade certificate. It will do more for the rural schools than any legislation enacted at this session will keep teachers in school longer, and when they go out they will be prepared and be able to acquire a first grade certificate."

HOTEL GUESTS HURT IN HOSTELRY FIRE

Summer Resort in Blue Mountains
Burns Early Today, Causing Panic
Among Occupants.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4.—The Blue Mountain House at Penmar, on the Pennsylvania and Maryland line, was destroyed by fire today, two guests being seriously injured. They were B. F. Metzgar and Malcolm Frank of Norfolk, Va. The men were badly burned and bruised in attempting to escape. They were on the fourth floor and were rescued when they had reached the second.

The fire started at 5 A. M. in the main building driving the guests from the lawn in scanty attire. Some of them were unable to save their belongings. The building was quickly destroyed and it was impossible to save anything in the way of furnishings.

The fire had its origin in the kitchen and quickly spread to adjoining rooms and halls, thence to the main building. The fire was above. There were one hundred and seventy-five guests in the hotel. Metzgar and Frank, who are uncle and nephew, respectively, did not hear the alarm. They awoke in their room on the fourth floor and in their effort to escape they fell through a trap door into a flame-swept hall and were seriously burned. The hotel was built by the Western Maryland Railway company twenty-five years ago and in its day was one of the best known mountain resorts in the country. Loss is about $200,000.

Tells of Heroism.
Baltimore, Aug. 5.—To the courage and cool headedness of Frank Thomas, a negro porter, many of the guests owe their escape from the burning building according to Arthur Mark of New Bern, N. C., one of those arriving here.

"This man," said Mr. Marks, "went from door to door awakening the guests. Then gathering them together he would lead this way out and lead them through a fire and so safety." Thomas it was said did not leave the building until he was assured that every one was out.

BALL PLAYER FAILS AS BEAR WRESTLER

Chicago Slab Artist is Worsted in Encounter With Animal in Minnesota Woods.

Beaumont, Minn., Aug. 5.—While P. J. Barry of Chicago, who recently twirled for the Spooner, Minnesota, baseball team, was conceded to be a tough player, he is not good as a wrestler, especially when his opponent is a she bear. Barry accompanied by a friend went to the island in the Lake of the Woods, Monday. They were fishing and became separated. Barry hooked a 100-pound olke, and while endeavoring to land it in the rocks came face to face with Mrs. Bear, who was accompanied by a cub.

Mrs. Bear immediately rushed at the ball player. They fought it and Barry was getting the best of the argument when in a clinch he stepped on a fish and his heels hit his head. He fell with the bear on top. Barry's friend heard the commotion and cutting a sapling came to the rescue. Barry was unconscious from loss of blood, his right arm being torn from elbow to shoulder. He was taken to Kenora and is not believed his wounds are dangerous. The two men took the cub with them which the female bear had left behind. Barry will take the animal to Chicago when he is recovered.

The plaster from the walls and splintered the bed on which he lay. Horrified, the family rushed to his room expecting to find him dead, but found him contentedly sleeping and uninjured. WILL AWAIT REPORT OF NEW AMBASSADOR

PRESIDENT WILL NOT ANNOUNCE POLICY UNTIL LIND MAKES INVESTIGATION.

MESSAGE FOR MEXICO

United States Envoy Will Inform
Mexicans That This Country
Will Recognize Only the Legal Government.

Washington, Aug. 5.—No announcement of the policy to further steps will be taken by President Wilson in the Mexican situation until former governor John Lind of Minnesota, personal representative of the president, arrives in Mexico City and familiarizes himself with conditions there. This was made clear at the White House today. Mr. Lind carried instructions to talk informally with common Mexicans.

Await Lind's Report.
Administration officials indicated that no steps toward a mediation policy would be attempted until after Mr. Lind had sounded sentiment in Mexico and determined whether the assistance of the United States in adjusting the dispute would be received.

Mr. Lind will inform inquirers on the authority of President Wilson that only the government constitutionally set up will be recognized by the United States. This will involve the resignation of Provisional President Huerta in favor of the provisional president selected by the Mexican congress, the new president to be first appointed minister of foreign relations in conformity with the law of succession in Mexico.

Unofficial Ambassador.
It was pointed out in administration circles that while Mr. Lind's position is now that of adviser to the American embassy, he will act in reality as an unofficial to be named ambassador when a stable government is recognized by the United States.

Secretary Bryan said that Mr. Lind would take a ship from New Orleans if he could save time by such a route. Otherwise he would go to Galveston, Texas to embark on the New Hampshire.

Ready to Act.
President Wilson has been unofficially informed of the support of republicans of the house of his Mexican program so far as a non-partisan attitude is maintained. Assurances to the president were conveyed from Republican Leader Mann. At both ends of the capitol there have been informal agreements to keep the Mexican question out of politics.

Diaz in Paris.

Big culinary stunts will be performed next week beginning Monday afternoon, in the Assembly Hall.
Florence M. Peet, the lecturer who has been scheduled to preach the gospel of good eats to Janesville housewives will move into the spacious hall
with her assistant. The gas stove will be lighted, and the potatoes will be peeled, mounds of dough will be pounded upon and rolled into tooth-
some, and the lovely fragrance of delicious food stuffs will fill the hall
and sneak over the transom, much to the discomfort of passersby whose olfactory senses will be cruelly tried with.

Talks Comprehensive.
Miss Peet will talk upon all manner of household topics. She will not be content to merely tell women how many teaspoonfuls of baking powder
and how many pinches of salt to use,
but she will encourage women to ask questions, all manner of culinary questions. Miss Peet will tell the women who is a penny wise and a pound
foolish. She will tell the difference between real economy and false economy. She says that a woman can throw out more with a teaspoon than her husband can with a hammer. She will tell the women who are miserable for the balance of the household
by her incessant pursuit of dust and
the severity with which she keeps the furniture arranged. She says that some women believe in such pinches
and pinches that their husbands
are made to feel uncomfortable every minute they are in the house and that they are almost afraid to move a chair
for fear it will shock the housewife's
sense of neatness or arrangement.

Miss Peet will address her remarks to the woman who keeps servants, as well as to the woman who does her own work. She will have some instructive ideas for all.

Miss Peet has written that she will be willing and glad to make a special appointment with any Domestic Science teachers or pupils. She usually is called upon for a lecture-demonstration before the high school students in the different cities she visits.

Husbands Smile.
Reports from other points along
Miss Peet's route state that her Lecture-demonstrations are a great treat to men as well as women. In that, after Mrs. Peet has been in a city a few days, the husbands notice a marked change in the daily menu and a consequent keenness of appetite, for Miss Peet takes in a variety of foods being served but not necessarily an expensive variety. In fact, she shows how to serve a more varied and tasty menu at less expense. This naturally wins the man who pays the bills and who eats three meals a day.

Further details regarding the Gazette's Cooking School, will be published each day. The school is to be the most successful yet. It is to be not only in the expert who will have charge, but in the foods
which she will prepare before her audience each day and which she will ask them to sample.

DECLINES POSITION
AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Principal F. J. Lowth Offered Place
on Milwaukee Normal Faculty
But Does Not Accept.

Principal F. J. Lowth of the Rock county teachers' training school has been offered a position in the training department of the Milwaukee
normal school at an increased salary,
but after fully considering the proposition has decided to remain in Janesville and continue the work at the training school.

Mr. Lowth believes there are good prospects for a fine wholesome work
in this county school, and desires to have a hand in shaping the policy of the school so as to make it second to none of its kind in Wisconsin. The new minimum one-year preparatory
law coupled with the new minimum salary law, is without doubt, destined to send increasing numbers of ambitious young people to our local
training school.

Applications for admission indicate a good attendance in the teachers' training school this fall, the next session of which opens on Aug. 25.

THE "BLUES"
A Lady Finds Help from Simple Food.

Civilization brings blessings and also responsibilities.
The more highly organized we become the more need there is for regular and natural simplicity in the food.

The laws of body nutrition should be carefully obeyed, and the finer more highly developed brain and nervous system not hampered by a complicated, unwholesome dietary.

A lady of high nervous tension says:
"For fifteen years I was a sufferer
from dyspepsia. I confess that an improperly regulated diet was the chief cause of my suffering. Finally noting that I also seemed to agree with my stomach, and life, at times, did not seem worth living.

"I began to take a pessimistic view
of everything and see life through dark blue glass. My head became affected with a heavy creeping
sensation and I feared paralysis.

"Palpitation of the heart caused me
to fear that I might die suddenly.
Two years ago, hearing Grape-Nuts
so highly spoken of by some estimable
friends of mine, I determined to try it.

"The change in my condition was little less than miraculous. In a short time the palpitation had disappeared
and the improvement has continued
until at the present time I find myself
in better health than I have ever enjoyed.

"My weight has increased 29 lbs. in the last year and life looks bright and sunny to me as it did when I was a child."

PLUMBING INSPECTION
LAW SOON IN EFFECT

Will Be in Force in All Cities Except Those of Fourth Class, Beginning October 2.

The new law for inspection of plumbing and licensing of plumbers,
will go into effect Oct. 2, and will affect all cities except those of the fourth class having less than 5,000 population. The state board of health empowered to enforce the law, is preparing application blanks and license forms. The blanks will be sent to plumbers as soon as they come from the printer.

About 2,000 plumbers of the state are affected by the law. Journeymen are taxed a fee of $2 the first year and $1 per year thereafter for renewal; master plumbers pay $10
the first year and $5 yearly for renewal, and contracting plumbers are assessed $40 the first year, and $20
for renewal. The receipts from fees will be used to carry out the provisions of the act, and any surplus will go into the general fund of the state.

The act provides for the appointment of a state inspector of plumbing through civil service channels
and a plumbing board to conduct the examinations of candidates for plumbers licenses, and, in conjunction with the inspector and a sanitary engineer to be appointed, to compile a plumbing code finding standards for the whole state and make a special attention to sanitary features of the business. Any plumber violating these regulations will be subject to license revocation and a penalty besides.

Plumbers who are now engaged in the business will be licensed without examination. Only new men need take the tests.

The plumbing bill was introduced by Assemblyman Ginnon of Superior and was actively supported throughout its career by master
plumbers from many cities.

ROAD REPAIR FUND
NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Failure of County Board to Make Appropriation Last Spring Makes Emergency Action Necessary.

Failure of the Rock county board
of supervisors to make an appropriation at their meeting last spring to cover the expenses of repairing the county roads, has placed the fund
made necessary the adoption of emergency measures in order that the roads may be kept in good condition.

County Treasurer F. F. Livermore
and Highway Commissioner C. E.
Moore were recently confronted with the situation that the repair fund was nearly exhausted. It was found that no provision had been made by the supervisors and the effects have no authority to pay out
the money without an express appropriation. There is considerable repair work still to be done on the county road system in order that it shall not suffer on account of neglect.

Sometime during the present
month, however, the county's share of the automobile license money, will be received and all the funds available to the law, upon the vote of the county board, shall be placed in the repair fund. The amount this year, it is estimated, will range between $5,000 and $10,000.

As an emergency action Mr. Liver-more wrote to the various supervisors explaining the predicament the county was in and asking for replies and suggestions as to a solution. The board members were asked whether they would approve of the payment of repair expenses out of the auto license money, although the board had authorized such action at the April meeting. Mr. Livermore has already received favorable replies from a majority of the supervisors, and the problem is safely disposed of.

It is estimated that the cost of repairing the county highways will amount to some $9,000 for the present year. As the mileage is increased from year to year the cost of repairs becomes larger.

NUMBER OF SCHOOLS
WITHOUT TEACHERS

A Number of Positions Are Still Open in Rural Schools of Rock County, Says Antisdel.

Not all the rural schools of Rock county are supplied with teachers for the coming year, according to Superintendent O. D. Antisdel today. Probably twenty or thirty positions are still open although the school boards
are fast closing their contracts and within two weeks there will probably be no vacancies.

There are quite a number of applications from persons residing outside the county, according to Mr. Antisdel, these applications are under consideration, but the preference is usually for the young women who live in the county and who have received their preparation in the school of the county.

Although there are a number of places without teachers at the present time, it is not anticipated that there will be any shortage. The school boards have nearly been slow
in acting on the applications.

FIX NEW VALUATION
UPON GAS COMPANY

Board of Review Reduces Assessment
at $357,000, to $341,644.

In what was virtually the eleventh hour of the last day for hearing complaints, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, J. E. Wortendyke, superintendent of the New Gas Light Company, and Attorney M. O. Mount,
counsel retained by the company,
appeared before the city board of review, and pleaded for a reduction in the assessment of the company's properties. Mr. Wortendyke was sworn and testified. He protested that the assessment was unjust, for the reason that the capitalization had been estimated from earnings figured
at eight per cent, and the earnings,
taken as a basis were those of the company's best year, which was not an average year. The board averaged the earnings of two years, capitalized them, and established a new assessment figure, $341,644, a reduction from the first valuation of more than $15,000. The Janesville Water Company and Janesville Electric Company assessments stand as first announced.

JOHN SHANNON DIES
AFTER UNLOADING A
TRUCK OF BAGGAGE

One of the Veterans of the Chicago,
Milwaukee and St. Paul Service
Passed Away Monday Afternoon.

Having just finished his work of unloading a truck of baggage at Milton
Monday afternoon, John Shannon,
aged fifty-five, a resident of Milwaukee
and for many years baggage man on the Milwaukee-North McGregor run, dropped dead in his car of heart failure. Shannon was apparently in the best of health and his sudden death was a shock to his train crew. The remains were conveyed to Milwaukee where his family reside. Since the establishment of the Milwaukee-North McGregor run Mr. Shannon has made regular trips into Janesville and has many friends in the city who were shocked to learn of his sudden death.
District Attorney Dunwiddie was notified of his death but after telephonic
communication with relatives in Milwaukee no inquest was necessary,
it being certain death was due to heart failure.

HARVEY B. WALKER
PASSED AWAY TODAY

Well-Known Carpenter Contractor
Died at Home on Linn Street
This Morning.

Harvey B. Walker, a veteran of the Civil War, a resident of Janesville
for more than fifty years, and well-known carpenter contractor, passed away at his home, 403 Linn street, this morning, of heart disease. He was over seventy years of age and had been seriously ill since April 11, and he suffered great pain. The cause of his death was heart trouble. Mr.
Walker was born in Bath, New York,
in 1844. At the beginning of the Civil War he enlisted in Company
B, 56th Regiment, New York Infantry, and served through the war. He fought in the battle of Gettysburg,
but was unable to attend the recent celebration because of his poor health. Mr. Walker came to Janesville immediately after the war and was active as a carpenter and contractor until about a year ago. Surviving him are his widow, whose maiden
name was Ada Brandt, a daughter, Mrs. Frank G. Howe, and a son,
W. H. Walker, both of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Royce of New York, and Mrs. Marion Wilhelm of Jasper, New York; and three nieces, Mrs. G. W. Koile of this city,
Mrs. Marion Thayer, and Mrs. O. W.
Ray, of Chicago.

Mrs. H. F. Thiele.
Mrs. H. F. Thiele, mother of Prof.
W. T. Thiele of this city, died last evening at her home in Whitewater.
She was 78 years of age and an old resider of that city. The funeral will take place on Friday at Whitewater.
She leaves to mourn, her husband, H.
F. Thiele, three sons and three daughters, Prof. W. T. Thiele of Whitewater, F. W. Thiele of Battle Creek, Wis., and H. F. Thiele of

MAY WORK PRISONERS
ON CITY STONE PILE

Plans Being Considered by Which (Sentence of Hard Labor Will Become an Actuality.

"Ten day at hard labor" will not mean ten days at the penitentiary, as plans now being considered by Mayor Fathers, Chief of Police Ransom and Sheriff Whipple come to a head, for those plans, as yet indefinite contentment, the employment of prisoners in the county jail at the city stone quarry at a dollar a day, their wages to be turned over to those dependant upon them if they have any, otherwise into the county treasury. A recent law making the employment of prisoners in
to find work for his prisoners, and this plan would work out to the mutual advantage of both city and county.
The city will get labor for half the cost and crushing plant, most of them
undesirable vagabonds, tramps, and petty criminals, whereas the county will be defrayed of the expense of boarding the men, besides laying their number reduced. Figures obtained by Chief of Police Ransom
show that from April 1 to July 19
there were 144 different men employed at the city quarries and there was paid them for labor $2,552.62. During the same period 1,077 men were sent to jail, their sentences aggregating 1,334 days.

It has been extremely difficult to secure and keep workmen at the quarry and crushing plant, most of them
leaving after a very few days' labor,
but it will be seen that more men
were sent to jail in that time than were employed at the quarry. If the city had work for them, placed under arrest, more would be brought into court than at the present time and for longer sentences. In July 115 men were locked up, mostly for intoxication, but only 74 were brought into court.

SPORT Snap-Shots

"If only I could play a season in the National league," sighs Jos Jackson, the American league batting phenomenon, "I bet I could slip over a .500 average, and that's no idle brag, either. Approaching the plate and lining out a two-bagger is a different proposition in the American league than the same in the National, allows Jackson. American league pitchers have the twirlers in the National league considerably backed off the boards in the matter of all round speed and class, according to Joe, and it's a whole lot warmer job trying to bat at a fast clip in the one league than the other. "Of course, if they were all Christy Matthews it would be something else again," says Jackson, "but they are far from same." Jackson, who till recently had been hitting at a .400 clip, is starting to climb again and will soon recover the .400 mark and even exceed it if his present plans carry. Mrs. Jackson is keenly interested in seeing her husband put the cleaner on Ty Cobb and beat him out in the batting honors.

Rube Benton, the Cincinnati south-paw, who was recently injured in a motorcycle bang-up, will pay dearly for the accident that has put him out of the game for the season. He won't get paid his salary during the months he is laid up, for the reason that when he joy-rides on his motorcycle he disobeyed orders. President Garry Herrmann of the Reds had repeatedly told Benton not to drive his bike during the ball season, and Benton went ahead and did as he pleased

STATE HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TITLE TO BE HARD FOUGHT FOR

Many Schools To Be In Race This Year, Madison, Oshkosh, Janesville and La Crosse Appearing Strong.

There is little doubt, that the complex situation which prevailed last year in regard to the settling of the Wisconsin state high school football title, will be in such a condition this fall. Madison high school upset the hope last year and for a time, considerable excitement prevailed throughout the entire state. Eau Claire claimed a chance for the title. Madison had a very strong eleven, and should have met other strong teams than just La Crosse. Oshkosh won the championship at the last minute, at least they are recognized as champions of Wisconsin. Janesville played them in the final play-off for the championship on Thanksgiving, the northern school pulling away with a 28 to 0 lead.

In addition to having another rousing tourney this year, which should include all high school teams in the state, there should be more enthusiasm worked up in each individual school. Lack of interest has been the main drawback in halting the rush of many strong elevens who have appeared upon the field of play.

A high school football championship in a state is a big proposition to undertake, but if handled right, such a thing is as possible as a basketball title. Last year, there were few teams, probably not more than four or five laying a claim by refusing to schedule any more games. Eau Claire and Merrill were light contenders, as Oshkosh was considered to have been the strongest team in the north. Janesville issued a claim for the title, and she was at once considered by Oshkosh, the game having been played at the northern city. This game then settled the title, as far as settling it last year was possible.

There will be many crack elevens in the race this fall. Oshkosh lose out three of last year's fighting warriors, and they should make a strong showing. Madison reports five vets lost by graduation, and seven old men back. Janesville is still in the running, with six old men back in the old Eau Claire, La Crosse, Merrill, Baraboo and many other schools will be out strong in hopes of bringing the halves and Ryan the fullback.

Madison are out for practice already. They have about twenty-five trying for the eleven, and many big fellows. Janesville will have a lighter team than last year, because of the loss of Edler and Falter, the two great halves, and Ryan, the fullback. Coach Winters of the Madison eleven, says that Oshkosh has refused to schedule a game with his eleven, as has South Side Milwaukee. Madison has scheduled a game with Sparta, to take place November 15th. Madison is hinting that they wish to play Janesville instead of Sparta. Coach Curtis of the Janesville school, has not made out a schedule as yet, because he is doubtful on just how fast a team can be developed from his material.

Virtue is a device for making death less horrible. Virtue is the will without the deed. Virtue is its own punishment.—Smart Set.

IE SMITH BEATS FLYNN IN COMING BATTLE, PUEBLO FIREMAN IS THROUGH

Gunboat Smith (left) and Jim Flynn.

The bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, on August 8, between Gunboat Smith and Jim Flynn will not prove very much so far as the heavyweight title is concerned, but it will at least decide whether the Pueblo fireman is through. If Smith beats Flynn, the latter may consider himself a has-been and make up his mind that he's through with the fight game for the rest of his days.

CARDINAL TWIRLERS SHINE IN LIMELIGHT

Butters Lets Stoughton Down With 5 Hits, While Tilley Wins From Chicago Mutuals With 3 Hits.

Manager Enright of the local Cardinals has a fine lot of twirlers. In Butters, Crandall and Tilley, he possesses three of the leading mound artists in this section of the country. Following is their record of last Sunday against other fast semi-pro teams:

Butters sanctioned to pitch for the Beloit Moose at a late hour Sunday. He was supposed to twirl against Stoughton, and he did. Opposing him was Bush, a former mate of the Madison Wis.-Ill. league. Both are exceptional twirlers, and a close battle was anticipated, and Butters won the game, letting Stoughton down with five hits, and striking out twelve men. The Beloit Moose won in twelve rounds, seven to five.

Tilley won his fifteenth consecutive victory Sunday, pitching for Belvidere against the fast nine known as the Chicago Mutuals. He let them down with three singles, and fanned ten men. He was opposed by McIntire, another star big man, and he held Belvidere safe, the latter nine obtaining but four hits.

Crandall is the third man who must be mentioned. He is pitching regular for the Cardinals, or at least has been lately. Last Friday he pitched for a fast Whitewater nine against Sullivan, a little Wisconsin town, who were pretty well loaded up with star men. This is the second Milwaukee A. pitcher Crandall has defeated within the past three weeks. The other unlucky man was "Rube" Nicholson.

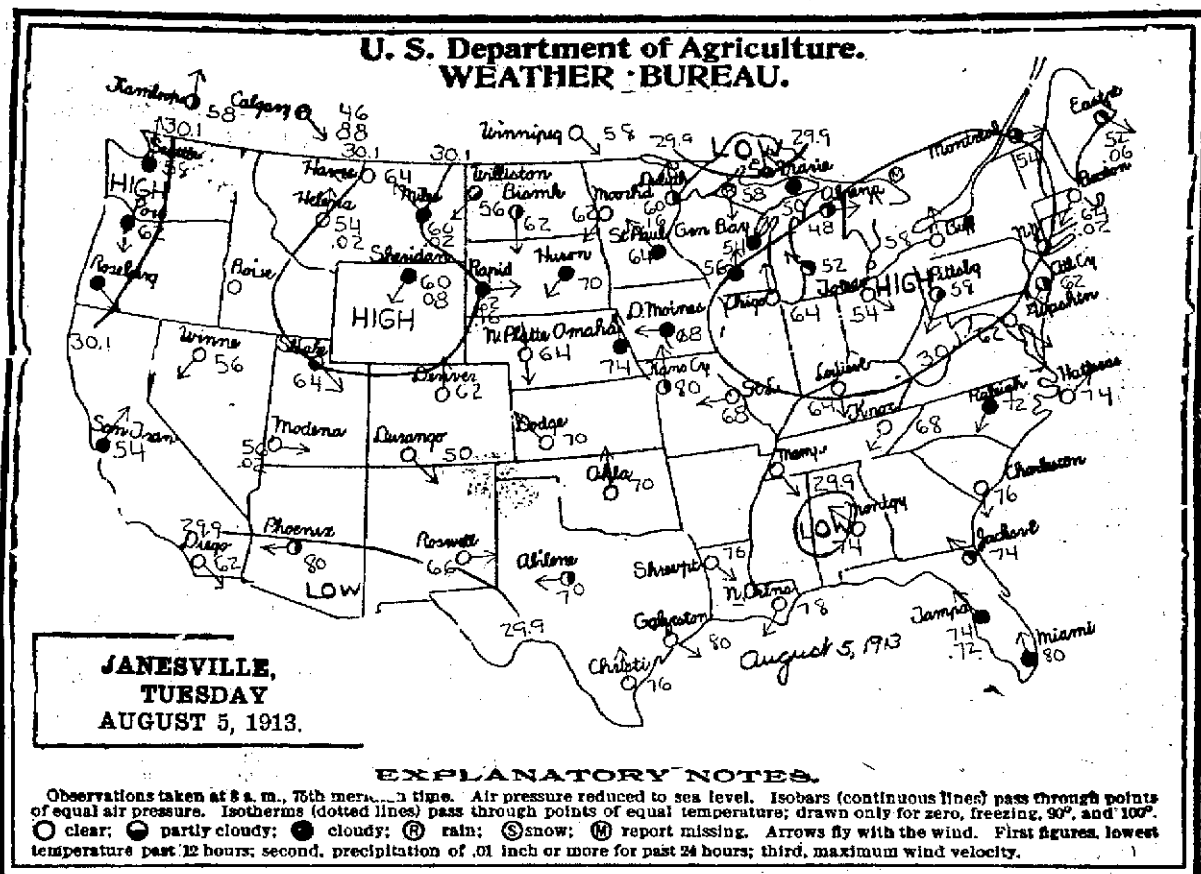

Next Sunday the Cardinals will meet the Beloit Moose for the fifth time this season. Two games each is the way things stand at present, and it will be up to Butters to redeem himself over last Wednesday. Blodgett will likely oppose him again, and another fast game is looked for. The game will be played at Yost Park.

"THEY OUTLAST MANY SEASONS"

From the outside give a finish to the porch and an air of hominess to the house that are very attractive. They make the porch a place everyone will seek during the hot, sultry days of summer. But you must not confuse Vudor Shades with ordinary bamboo screens. There is all the difference in the world between them, both in the service and in the comfort they bring.

The light, strong wooden strips of Vudor Shades are lock-stitched together by heavy seine twine so the strips will not work out at the sides of the shades and become broken. The twine is rot-proof and the raising cords will not annoy you by curling up and sticking in the pulleys.

Vudor Shades are indelibly stained (not painted nor dipped) in soft, pleasing colors to harmonize with your house. They will retain their newness and withstand sun and rain for many seasons.

Vudor Shades repel the sun's rays but let in all the light and air you want. You can see out, but no one can see in. They make the porch a delightfully cool and secluded place where your family can spend the long summer days and where you may rest in comfort during nights when the thought of a hot bedroom banishes sleep.

SOMETHING DOING.

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan is in truth the whole democratic administration. He may take a few days, a few weeks, away from Washington delivering chautauqua lectures to eke out his paltry twelve thousand a year salary, but nevertheless he is the democratic party and no one should forget it. The wise men of democracy at Baltimore may have thought that they had side-tracked William Jennings when they nominated Wilson, but they made the mistake of their lives. Bryan was too astute to be side-tracked and he is now their lord and master and they must bow down, play dead roll over and sit up when he whistles. Just at present Bryan has taken an active hand in the Mexican affairs. Ambassador Wilson has been requested to resign, to take effect months from now, and has responded to the invitation. It is wondered why his resignation is to date from October 4th, perhaps, but meanwhile he is still ambassador, subject to the state department orders, and not free to express his views publicly or even make suggestions to congress. It is a clever move to silence Mr. Wilson of Mexico, by Mr. Wilson of Washington, and it will be effective. Meanwhile Mr. Wilson of Washington, at the suggestion of Mr. Bryan, also of Washington, will settle this Mexican matter off hand and see that Uncle Sam's program is carried out. Uncle Sam will not be forced to send troops down there to fight the troublesome Mexicans, but will export a few cases of grape juice, numerous chautauqua lectures and all will be well. The real time for Uncle Sam to have taken an active part in Mexican affairs was way back in Forty-nine when General Scott invaded the country and gave the residents south of the Rio Grande a taste of shot and bayonet that they did not expect for a generation or two. But this is the day and age of peace and while Wilson uses orange juice and Bryan grape juice, the combination is expected to be most soothing to the irate Mexicans in their present troubles.

ONLY OFFICIALLY ABSENT.

Great Britain, as a government, will not take part in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. Neither will Russia or Germany. Possibly one or two other important powers will take similar action. The reasons assigned are various. Some may be founded chiefly on ill feeling, others on strictly business considerations. The effects will be the same in either case, and the big show is destined to lose somewhat in spectacular interest. But these refusals to take part in the exposition concern only the government, in every case. It is not meant that the manufacturers, artists, merchants and other citizens of the United Kingdom, Russia and possibly other countries will fail to send their products to San Francisco or in any way boycott the great fair. On the contrary, it is quite certain that British, German, Russian and even Japanese merchandise will be much in evidence. Any other condition would be contrary to all precedent. It would indicate a degree of indifference or lack of enterprise impossible to believe. And if the people of countries which do not "officially" participate in the San Francisco exposition take their natural share in that vast demonstration of the progress and achievements of mankind, the absence of certain public functionaries and governmental exhibits and buildings will be only a minor incident having little effect upon a vast enterprise.

PROGRESS INDEED.

China may be torn by civil war, but they have just sentenced a Chinese bigamist to imprisonment for eighty days. He was prosecuted by or organization of advanced Chinese women and they won their case just as if China, for untold generations, had not been a country where the legal rights of wives, and women in general, were conspicuously few and unimportant. One incident like this counts for more than many things which attract wider attention in the news of the hour. It is of more real significance as a proof of the changes going on in a vast and ancient empire than all of the parliaments which have yet assembled in Peking. Chinese conservatism has been believed to lie deeper in respect to the position of women and in the institutions which are peculiarly domestic than in any other phase of life. And yet they have sent a bigamist to jail, in Shanghai!

The least worried individual in the world should be the New York youth who has only five months in which to marry and thus qualify for a $10,000,000 inheritance.

Twelve children have been burned to death in Brooklyn this summer while wearing fringed Indian or cowboy suits. Is this, too, the fault of the moving pictures?

Having got safely out of Mexico with his watch and his money, Ambassador Wilson must be pardoned for becoming a bit careless in New York.

The Saskatoon Postlagers can hardly hope to trample an American flag for every "Canadian soldier" that has been trampled in the states.

If selling his old clothes fails to enable Mr. Wagner to live on his National league salary, he might organize a winter chautauqua.

Also if an express company is a "parasite on the railroad" in California, what is a sleeping car company on the public anywhere?

European developments do not alter the early assumption that the best part of the Panama-Pacific exposition may be the trip.

Of course, rather than have Great Britain boycott the Panama exposition, we might present her with the canal.

For our part, we'd be glad if all the waiters agreed never to accept a tip under $990.

It will not be necessary to demand the closing of motorcycle tracks if they keep on killing their patrons.

PURE MOMENT

THE DIARY OF A BONEHEAD.
A man who tells his wife anything but the plain unvarnished truth is a fool.

It doesn't even pay to delve into the half-truths of diplomacy. When the bunch of fraternity brothers blew into town last night I simply couldn't break away and we went to the emporium of the bent elbow and the brass footrail to talk over old times. When I got home, I inadvertently stepped on the cat's tail while I was getting up stairs in the dark and the piercing screams of the outraged feline awoke the other half of my sketch who turned on the lights and sat up in bed waiting while I finished the climb to the second floor. "What time is it?" she inquired. "It is twelve o'clock, exactly," I murmured, softly and contentedly. "Is that so?" she inquired, glancing at the gold mantel clock on the bureau, which registered 2:30 and no less. Some change gave us that mantel clock when we were married. There should be a severe penalty attached to the giving of mantel clocks for wedding presents. A mantel clock is apt to rise and smite one in the face when he least expects it. "I am sorry it is so late," I said, "but I had to go over and see Mr. and Mrs. Bilkins, who leave tomorrow for Yellowstone park. They inveigled me into a game of cards and the time slipped away before I knew it. I got there at eight o'clock. "You are sure you spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bilkins?" "Sure I did. Why?" "Well, they came over here to bid us goodbye and they stayed here and waited for me from 8 o'clock until long after midnight, that's all. That was enough."

Resort News.

A very exciting thing is to happen next week. It is advertised that a tattooed man will be on exhibition out in front of the hotel. With him will be the man who decorates him. For modest sum of one dollar any person can have his name of business tattooed upon this man's back or chest, and as he travels about from place to place it is believed that this is good advertising. Those desiring space should be on hand early, as there is not much room left. There are those pessimists at the resort who claim that tattooing is a skin game. One of the Turkey Trotters at our hotel fell one night last week and rubbed his shoulder blade. All dances containing more than three somersaults at one time have been tabooed. The bunny huggers and Texas Tommy dancers are thinking of moving to some resort further up the coast where no holds are barred. They favor the Queensbury rules where clean breaks are not required. One of our fair resorters made a bathing suit out of a silk handkerchief the other day and they are now becoming the rage. They have enough material left to make a cap. One lady arrived at our resort last week with twelve complete changes of costume in her pocketbook. The Morning Mail. When I sit down in my old office chair, I eagerly pursue my morning mail. It comes from here and there and everywhere. A stack of it awaits me without fail. The letters open-faced I cast aside. I care not for the mail that's pecked. The fruits of isinglass I can't abide. I know that they contain bills long past due. The sealed mail is the sort that gets my eye. I open it, my expectation keen. I look it through till half past ten, and sigh. In all the bunch there's no check to be seen.

An automobile ad in many hues. A circular concerning garden seeds. A letter from the lodge demanding dues. A relative's fond note tells of his needs.

A speech made by our congressman. I get. An oil-well pamphlet tells of work begun. My mail has never furnished one so thrilling yet. There's nothing new, by heck, beneath the sun.

Heart to Heart Talks
By JAMES A. EDGERTON

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.
Many good people seem to be alarmed because there are a number of new cults in the world.

Why, bless these dear, timid souls, there have always been new cults. Some of them have succeeded and have become the accepted doctrines of the race. Others have disappeared. But there was never much really to be feared from any of them.

Today we are in a state of transition. A new generation is coming to the front and is insisting on re-examining everything—religion, politics, business, industry, labor, therapeutics and even our systems of finance and taxation.

The young men of our age are not content to take the word of the past. They want to know for themselves. The so called new cults are merely efforts to improve conditions.

Personally I believe in some of them, and in others I do not believe, but I am not afraid of any of them. If they are not good they will not last. Meantime they will make people think.

Truth is not so puny that it need fear one fad or a thousand. It outlives all fads. For if the fads have any substantial reason for being they succeed and cease to be fads, and if they have not they disappear and cease to be anything at all.

For centuries a lot of good people have said that man never could fly, but man is flying. Now a number of other good people are disturbed because so many aviators are killed. Well, that is sad and deplorable, but through this tragic experience we are learning how to improve the aeroplane so that danger is decreased. In time it may become as safe to ride in the air as on the earth or the sea.

Others are troubled because of food cults, healing cults, suffragist cults, the labor movement, the new woman movement, shifting standards as to matrimony, socialism and what not. There is nothing to be afraid of in all these things. Most of them profess to seek better ways and better days. They provoke discussion. Eventually we will sift out the chaff from the wheat, and whatever contribution of good any of these cults has to offer will be accepted.

"Try all things; hold fast that which is good."

There is no more reason to be afraid of a new cult than of a new baby. For the times change and men and ideas change with them, but the cardinal virtues and the verities live on forever.

Too Precious.
"Did you punish our son for throwing a lump of coal at Willie Smiggs?" asked the careful mother. "I did," replied the busy father. "I don't care so much for the Smiggs boy, but I can't have anybody in this family throwing coal around like that."—Washington Star.

INSURE CHAUTAUQUA IN CITY NEXT YEAR

PLEDGE 640 SEASON TICKETS IN TWENTY MINUTES AT SESSION LAST NIGHT.

PROGRAM FOR WOMEN

Entertainment Closes Tomorrow With Address by Mrs. Nannis Curtis And Miss Mary McEnerney.

Janesville will be favored in 1914 with a six days' chautauqua program under the direction of the National Lincoln Chautauqua system. Six hundred and forty season tickets were pledged in twenty minutes at the evening session yesterday, which was forty more than the required guarantee number.

Denton C. Crowl, whose Sam Jones' lecture yesterday afternoon proved one of the finest treats of the week's entertainment, superintended the subscription of the pledges. He explained the plan of the system to furnish a higher class of talent next season than ever before and of the necessity of a higher guarantee from the various cities on the circuit. The tickets were subscribed for in blocks of twenty, fifteen, ten and five and will sell at $1.50 each.

Interest in the present chautauqua is now thoroughly aroused and all have enjoyed the entertainments offered thus far have been enthusiastic in their praise. The system is operated on a business basis and the talent is of the highest order.

Last evening's program by the Bland orchestra merited the expressions of appreciation which were heard on every side at the conclusion of the concert. The orchestra selections were executed with great harmony from the more difficult overtures to the snappy encores. One of the masterpieces of the program was "The Battle of the Big Horn or the Last Charge of Custer," a descriptive piece which was presented with artistic skill.

In addition there were several numbers by the brass quartet which were approved. Mr. Harry Bland is a dedicated vocalist and sang the "Fore-ador's Song" from Carmen with interpretation, his baritone voice being especially pleasing. The xylophone soloist was another artist and was deservedly applauded for his rendition of "Fantasia on the Overture from William Tell." Another number which pleased was a trio of piano, violin and voice playing "The Bird Girl's Dream."

Dr. Charles A. Payne, a travel lecturer, was the speaker at the afternoon meeting today when he appeared again this evening. The lecture tonight will deal with the Panama canal and Central America and promises to be of unusual interest. Today's musical program was given by Emerson and Winters and Carl Landgren, soloists of ability. They are also on this evening's program.

Interest among members of the Rock County Suffrage association centers in the final day of the chautauqua on Wednesday when both the speakers will have something of importance to say on the vote question. Mrs. Nannis Curtis who speaks in the afternoon is a temperance leader from Texas, and is widely famed as one of the best women orators of the country. The subject of her lecture is "The Future of the American Woman."

Miss Mary McEnerney, of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the bindery women's union, and a member of the executive board of the women's trade union league, Miss McEnerney will be active in the work of securing better laws for the working men and women of Illinois. She is one of the working women of Chicago and her address will be of especial interest to the working classes who are urged to be present.

Miss McEnerney is a leader among the newly enfranchised women voters of Illinois. She gave an address at a recent meeting held at the Garrick theatre which was reported by one of the Chicago papers as "a most interesting and a most successful one."

"There was a militant note about the meeting and Miss Mary McEnerney furnished a thrill when she gave freely her opinion of men. "Men have placed women up on pedestals just to make them step up there and to keep them out of politics," she declared, searching her audience to pick out the men. "Chivalry is another of their bluffs," she went on and explained her. "They tell us to say that the place for women is right at home. Why, if women were to stay right at home, how in the world would the factories run? Would they run themselves?"

"By the way, did you notice that men haven't put on pedestals the 6,000,000 women who are workers in the factories and mills? You could see your way to death and there wouldn't be anything unladylike in that, but the minute you get into politics, then the men say you're unladylike."

"Don't interfere with politics," they tell us. "Politics is dirty work and we've done dirty work before, and politics certainly can't be much worse than what we've been accustomed to. I think it's positively silly to say that new men place at home. The men are afraid for the women to know how they conduct the City Hall and the Capitol Building."

Papers Corrected: The examination papers for teachers' certificates have been corrected and the standing will be sent out from the county superintendent's office within a few days.

CO-OPERATION MAKES GAINS WITH FARMERS OF TEXAS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 5.—Striking proof of the success of co-operation among Texas farmers was offered here today by the large and representative attendance at the opening of the eleventh annual meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of Texas. Great interest is centered in the development of the plans for holding cotton, or at least making the grower independent of those who would prey upon him in the form of collectors of high interest rates or by inducing early sales at reduced prices. Schemes for the valorization of cotton after the plan of the coffee arrangement in Brazil are to be presented. Such important questions as crop diversification, more intensive cultivation, improved highways, the use of motor traction and the substitution of Mexican for negro labor are to come up for individual and general discussion.

FORMER "BORAX KING" IS NOW A BANKRUPT

Francis M. Smith, Once Rated a Multi-Millionaire, Faces Debts Totalling $150,000.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 5.—Rated only a year or two ago among the great multi-millionaires of America, Francis M. Smith, widely known as the "Borax King," appeared before Judge Morrow in the United States district court today to show cause why he should not be adjudged a bankrupt on debts amounting approximately to $150,000.

The petition filed by Smith's creditors declares that prior to May 5, when a company was appointed to act as trustees in managing his affairs, he conveyed without money consideration properties valued at $1,000,000 to the Mercantile Trust Company, to B. F. Edwards and to his wife at a time when he was insolvent. These transfers, it is alleged in the complaint, constitute acts of bankruptcy.

Smith's career is one of the romances of modern American finance. Born in the town of Richmond, Wis., about sixty-five years ago, he spent his boyhood and youth on his father's farm. At the age of twenty-one he came west, and in 1872 he discovered the great borax deposits in Nevada. After years of labor he secured a monopoly of the product and from that time his financial success was one of the wonders of the west. Eventually he became the head of a two hundred-million-dollar string of corporations. His personal fortune has been estimated at many millions.

DOLLAR DAY

Wednesday, August 13th.

THE BIGGEST EVENT EVER PLANNED BY JANESVILLE MERCHANTS.

That Dollar Day, Wednesday, August 13th, will be the biggest day in the point of attendance and sales that the local dealers have ever experienced is the general consensus of opinion today. The hundreds of inquiries received yesterday about the day and the general interest its announcement has aroused point the way to assured success.

What Is Dollar Day?

It is one day upon which all the merchants of a city combine to offer the public one rousing big sale and to give it added attractiveness a single dollar is made the price of all bargain offers. The point is to make the day within the reach of every possible customer and it is felt that a dollar is a thing that can be secured and saved for this day by everyone it is possible to reach.

What Dollar Day Offers to the Customer

While the day is essentially to allow local merchants to attract crowds to their places of business and to increase their sales, it is to the customer within reach of this city that the day is of real value. The merchant simply turns his goods into money, in many instances at cost or less, while the buyer is allowed the opportunity of, for the one day, buying goods at a figure that must result in a considerable saving. Money saved and expended on this day will purchase far more than it will the day before or the day after. A dollar thus saved is as valuable as one earned.

Dollar Day, if supported by the buying public of Rock County, cannot help but result in an enormous economic saving to the community.

Plans already under headway point to its being a gala day here. Business houses will be decorated; plans for entertaining the shoppers are being matured; Dealers are vying with each other in who can provide the most attractive bargain and nothing will be left undone to make it a day to be long remembered by the shoppers of this vicinity.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"When trouble comes to where I live
An' say he givine to stay
I hollers thro' de keyhole
I done took holiday."

I sho has moved away
Dat is de word I say.
I hollers thro' de keyhole
I done took holiday."

WHEN you come to think of it, isn't it really astonishing how large a proportion of the trouble that darkens our horizons and keeps us from being happy, is the creation of our own brains.

There are a few real troubles in the world; death of someone you love is the chief of them; sickness is another; "real biling" poverty which withers lesser soul with its deadly breath; is another; unrequited love is another; although when one considers how largely love is subjective one might almost class that with the troubles that we create; disgrace for one's self or for those one loves is another.

I haven't been able to think of them, although I've been trying to ever since this subject occurred to me, and that was some months ago. To tell the truth I don't really believe there are many more.

And yet, when you feel blue and miserable, when your horizon is darkened, how often is your unhappiness to be traced to one of these real troubles? Probably not once out of a hundred times.

The other ninety-nine times you are allowing your existence to be poisoned by someone of the million million varieties of self-created troubles.

What do I mean? Why fretting over what people think of you, for instance; making yourself miserable because you cannot possess some luxury, worrying over your work, fretting because you cannot arrange the future, rehashing some past decision, torturing yourself by useless remorse, and so on down the infinite line.

Some of your troubles have some slight ground in present discomfort, some have not even that, but are rooted simply in the irrevocable past or the unchangeable future. There is no question but that fear and regret cause quite as much suffering as present trouble.

Do you know what I sometimes think when I find myself letting one of the self-created troubles darken the blue sky of my ought-to-be happiness? I think, "it would serve you right, Ruth Cameron, if every time you were wicked enough to be true over nothing, something to be really blue about came to you."

Of course it would be a terrible punishment to have that always happen. But don't you think we almost deserve it?

strained or not. Add the grated cheese and cook only until the cheese is melted. Season with salt and pepper. Put a layer of sauce in the bottom of the baking dish, then spaghetti, then sauce, etc. Continue until all is used, sprinkling cheese and white bread crumbs with bits of butter over the top. If all this is put hot into an earthen baking dish then no harm will be done by browning quickly in a hot oven. Otherwise heat the fish gently and brown quickly in the last. Serve in the dish in which it is baked. Macaroni or spaghetti may be used.

In preparing macaroni, spaghetti or any of such like pastas, all are cooked in plenty of boiling, rapidly boiling, salted water. A piece of butter the size of a hazelnut will keep the water from boiling over. The boiling should continue from twenty to forty minutes, according to the size of the macaroni or pasta.

Baked Beans.
Material—White navy beans, one quart; salt pork, one-half pound; molasses, one-fourth cup; onion, one cup; salt, one teaspoonful; soda, one-fourth teaspoon; pepper, one-fourth teaspoon.

Directions—Boil pot, measuring cup, salt pork, onion and molasses. Directions—Wash and soak the beans over night in plenty of cold water. In the morning put them into the kettle, cover with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Boil just a moment and turn into a colander and drain well. Return to the kettle and cover with freshly boiled water and simmer until upon lifting some of the beans cut on a spoon and blowing on them the skins crack. Now pour into the bean pot and bury the pork, which has been scored or the skin cut through in squares in the beans. Mix the molasses and half cup of the water from the beans together; pour this over, sprinkle with pepper, add a cup of tomato if you like the flavor, and cover with the rest of the water, reserving the remainder to use later over the beans as they bake dry. Bake in a moderate oven covered for six or eight hours. The beans should be perfect in shape and taste moist. These may be done in the fireless cooker and covered in an oven for twenty minutes.

THE TABLE.
Salt Codfish Chowder—A quarter of a cup of salt pork fat, two large onions, cut in small dice, two cupfuls of shredded codfish, one cupful of cream, four heaping tablespoonfuls of butter, three cupfuls of potatoes, cut in cubes, salt, pepper, red pepper, one cupful of boiling water, eight buttered crackers, two tablespoonfuls of flour. Soak the codfish in cold water for two hours; then drain.

THE KITCHEN CABINET
THE reason that cooking so fails of its purpose, is that its practice is far below the rank of other human industries, and therefore oftener more of a hindrance than a help.
—Ellen Richards.

BROTHS FOR THE SICK.

Broth is a liquid containing the juices of soluble parts of meat and bone which have been extracted by long, slow cooking. When cold, it is more or less solid, according to the gelatinous nature of the ingredients.

The chief object in making broth is to obtain the largest possible amount of nutriment from the meat, so we cut it in small pieces and soak it in cold water, using the water as well as the meat in the slow cooking which follows. A tightly-covered kettle which will retain the steam is desirable, otherwise much of the flavor is lost by evaporation.

Mutton Broth.—Mutton broth is the accepted kind for the convalescent. Wipe a piece of the neck weighing two pounds, cut off all skin and fat and cut the meat in small pieces. Put the bones into the kettle with the meat, add cold water and let them stand an hour to extract the juices. Heat gradually to the boiling point, season with salt and pepper and simmer for two hours, but do not allow to boil. Remove fat and strain through a coarse sieve. Serve hot. In re-heating, use a double boiler.

Three tablespoonfuls of rice or barley may be added; soak the barley over night, add to the broth and cook until the grains are tender. If the broth is made the day before and cold, the fat may be easily removed.

Nutritious Beef Broth.—Cut three pounds of solid meat from the shoulder or shin in small pieces, put the cracked bone into an earthen jar, cover with cold water and cook slowly with the meat for twelve hours in a slow oven. A fireless cooker is an ideal place to prepare this broth. Strain through a colander, add salt and cool quickly. When cold, remove the fat. Serve cold as a jelly or heat to 170 degrees; not higher, as boiling injures its value.

Egg Broth.—Beat the white and yolk of an egg separately and add the yolk gradually to a cup of hot beef broth, stirring constantly. Add salt and fold in the white of egg, reheat carefully and serve hot.

Nellie Maxwell.

Chance for Missionaries.
A missionary stationed in a land where the natives were cannibals wrote for assistance as follows: "Our small force of brethren seems to be unable to cope with the distress which prevails in this dark and benighted land. Many of the natives are starving for food. Please send a few more missionaries."

Can You Believe This?
Nature's most deadly antidote seems to have been overcome. A rat was killed in a produce company's plant in Missouri and left four young rats, which the cat has undertaken to bring up, meantime neglecting her duty of keeping the place clear of all adult rats that come in sight.

Love, the Essential Thing.
Fame and notoriety can avail little; love is the one essential thing, outliving time and change and going with us into the unguessed possibilities of death.—Whittier.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

If the baby is afraid of water or cries when put in his bath, place some water toys in it and you will have no trouble.

A nice cake filling can be made by boiling half a cup of cream and one cupful of sugar five minutes. Remove from the fire and beat with a silver fork till creamy, then add half a cupful of finely chopped nuts.

Pepper and Onion Relish.—Take the seeds from six pounds of peppers and put them into a clean sauce-pan, add four chopped onions, one tablespoonful of powdered cloves, half a tablespoonful of powdered cinnamon, allspice and ginger, and one dessert-spoonful of powdered mace. Pour in enough vinegar to well cover and simmer for four hours. Rub through a sieve, cool and bottle.

Cream of Corn Soup.—Chop one can of corn until fine, adding a generous pint of water, a slice or two of onion, and allow it to cook from twenty to thirty minutes. Remove from range and strain. To this add another generous pint of sweet milk, salt and white pepper to taste, and thicken with a heaping tablespoonful each of flour and butter mixed. Just before removing to serve add an egg which has been beaten very light. Serve with croutons.

Master of human destinies am I Fame, love and fortune on my foot-

Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate Deserts and seas remote; and, passing by Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate.

I turn away. It is the hour of fate
And they who follow me reach every state.

SWAT THE FLIES AND SWAT THEM QUICKLY

When Roseau discovered that stable flies could carry infantile paralysis, the interest in this fly increased materially. The farmers already knew of the harm from this fly, in addition to spreading infantile paralysis, Jennings and King of the bureau of entomology say it may spread pellagra. The diseases of domestic animals spread by it are malaria, swamp fever, glanders, septicemia, surra, souma, and, maybe, round worm.

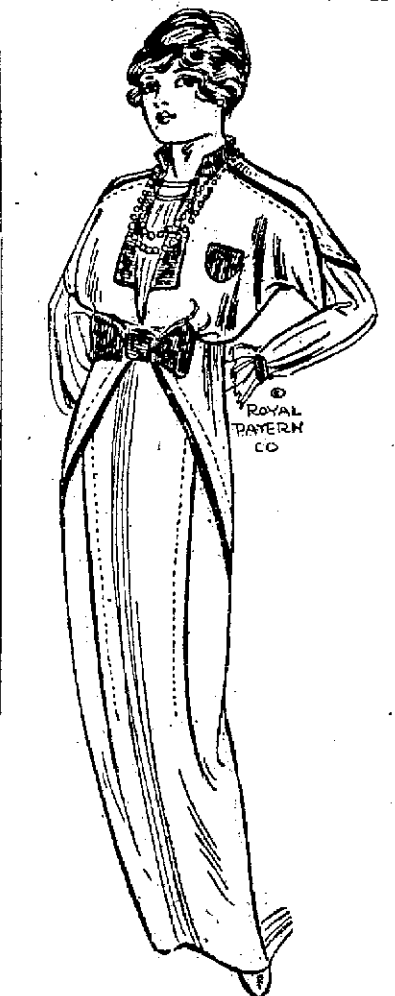

In addition, biting flies worry stock so much they cannot work efficiently. Animals get thin and milk cows sometimes go off to 60 per cent in the amount of milk produced.

F. C. Bishop of the United States bureau of entomology tells what he has learned about the stable fly in bulletin 550. It breeds largely in straw. Old strawstacks in the fields are the worst offenders. Bishop's advice is to burn these stacks or else to spread the straw and plow it in deep. When a heavy rain falls on freshly threshed straw, conditions for fly breeding are at their worst. Nature containing straw is another breeding place of importance.

To keep the flies off, Bishop advises a mixture of fish oil (one gallon), oil of pine (two ounces), oil of pennyroyal (two ounces), kerosene (one-half a pint). To keep the flies out of the stable, he recommends the Hodge window trap.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Do you think a boy that is jealous cares anything about a girl?

(2) My hair is light but not blonde. Can you please give me some advice? I don't mean to make it blonde, but all the same color.

(3) Can you please tell me a remedy for biting fingernails?

GIRL READER.
(1) He is certainly interested in her.

(2) Nobody's hair is all the same color. It is usually lighter at the ends than on top. Keep your hair clean and well brushed and it will be pretty, no matter what color it is.

(3) Put bitter aloes on the nails and use your will power to stop the bad habit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are seventeen years old and one has a red face and pimples and blackheads. Will peroxide cream cure pimples and take out the blackheads?

(2) We take Epsom salts to get rid of pimples. How many times a week should we take salts?

(3) Will peroxide cream make the face white?

(4) I live with my aunt and she is very mean to me. I earn $10.50 for two weeks. Do you think I could keep myself on that. She said I could not keep myself in shoes.

(5) When a girl and boy get cross, whose place is it to speak first when they are both to blame?

TWO BELLES.
(1) A plain cleansing cream will do to massage the face every night. It must be thoroughly wiped off after the massage. Plenty of water inside and soap and water outside will help to get rid of pimples and blackheads. Also, don't eat rich foods and candies.

(2) As often as necessary to keep the bowels moving regularly; a tea-spoonful in half a glass of water each morning, drinking a glass of water afterward, is used by some, but don't do this unless necessary.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT
CONDUCTED BY MRS. ALICE ORRILL KELL

The need of public eating places everywhere is for good, plain, home-like cooking, such as people can enjoy who wish to be careful about what they eat. If they are building bodies for health and efficiency, washing soups, not too highly seasoned, fresh vegetables and fruits carefully prepared, a variety of salads, simple made-up dishes and desserts. The portion who wants to make up a lunch room there is not enough help to prepare things carefully, and the chef has to be as high a standard as the housekeeper at home. Often he can do more expensive and elaborate things better, but he is not interested in doing as well as we can the plain, simple things for which there is need in the lunch room.

The result is that low quality, cheaper materials and methods, and high seasoning are substituted for economy. Cheaper materials figure very largely where the proprietor is looking for immediate profits.

The recipes have to be made up in different quantities and if a quantity is required which is not on the formula, the head of the department must make it up. I have seldom found a cook who could multiply or divide a formula and keep it in proportion all through, and they do not want the responsibility of it.

The process of changing a kitchen which has been in charge of a chef to an organization of several women cooks using recipes is a most interesting one, and for the time being exciting. For a woman who has been working as a cook's helper with no responsibility but to do what she was told, it is a great event to be allowed to make decisions and plan for a hundred people, and by simply following the recipe and directions have it come out just as good as if the chef made it. The women take an active part and interest in their work when they are transformed from cook's helpers into cooks, which makes the experience well worth trying.

CHAPTER XI.

Before the Storm. "It's good to get a welcome at last," laughed Grace. "Mark's been as cross as a bear."

"I haven't declared Robertson. 'You have!' she insisted. 'And just because the train was a few minutes late. Oh, well—a few hours, then. When I got in you were stamping up and down the platform surrounded by a blue haze like Ajax defying the railroad. Really, I was ashamed of you. If it hadn't been for the lovely flowers you got me—'

"What was the delay?" asked Blake. "I don't know," she answered, laying aside her wraps with Robertson's awkward if eager aid. "The engine made too strenuous an effort to get out of Baltimore. And it broke down. How are you, dad?"

"Oh," grunted Blake, "as well as a man may hope to be who never can hope to make himself worthy of such a wonderful son. I—"

"Tom!" cried Grace in jolly reproof. "There's been another explosion! What was it, this time? Tell me!" "Politics," answered Blake before Tom could speak. "I'm a wicked, hopeless, corrupt old guy. And Tom's just discovered it—for the thousandth time. It's hurt his feeling something terrible."

"Why do you boys quarrel so foolishly?" she demanded. "Neither of you ever quarrels with me. I'm going to be an arbitration committee and a dove of peace, all in one, and settle your grievances—when I get time."

"And, speaking of time," put in Mark, "I ought to be at the Capitol this very minute. Coming?" he asked, turning to Blake and Tom.

"In a little while," said Blake. "You two run on. I want to speak to Grace."

Tom led the way from the room. Mark, following, paused an instant on the threshold. "By the way, Grace," he called, over his shoulder, "we've asked Standish to come here. It wouldn't do for us to be seen conferring with him at the Capitol or anywhere else in public. If he gets here before we're back, ask him to wait, won't you?"

His wife's back had been turned toward him and she was leaning over a table arranging flowers in a vase. Her voice as she replied was quite indifferent.

"Certainly," she agreed. "Confer all night if you want to, so long as you don't do it loudly enough to keep me awake."

Robertson closed the door, leaving Grace and her father alone together. Noting Blake's scorn, she asked:

"How is the Mullins fight coming on?"

"Twenty-fourth round," he replied. "Both men groggy."

"You'll win, though," she said; and there was scarce a note of interrogation in her voice.

"It's a way I've got," bluffed her father; loath that the daughter, whose faith in his powers was so secure, should know of the straits in which he was laboring. "Standish is doing his best to block us. And he thinks he's done it. A lot of other folks think so, too. But I'm fixing up a mine to spring under him tonight. And after the explosion I guess the air will clear for the Mullins bill. But that wasn't what I wanted to speak to you about. It's Tom."

"Tom?"

"Yes. He's in love."

"Is that all? Oh, I see. The quarrel was about that. He came to you for sympathy and—"

"Girl, there's four things no man can get sympathy for. I don't know why, but he can't: having his umbrella stolen; getting his best hat sat on; a toothache; and falling in love. But it happens. Tom didn't come looking for sympathy. He just wanted me to tell him that. And it didn't ultimate. That's where I want you to help me."

"Who is she? Do I know her?" "You've probably seen her here at the Keswick, though I don't suppose you've noticed her. You wouldn't be likely to. She's Wanda Kelly."

"Not the phone girl?" asked Grace in dismay. "You win. Real nice, ain't it? Makes an awful hit with me, after all I've done and planned for that boy, to have him tumble into an affair like this."

"Don't worry!" she reassured him. "There are other ways of convincing a man—especially a lover—than by storming at him. You know all about politics, dad, and you can whip voters, and congressmen into line. But Tom needs a different line of attack. And he's going to get it. From me."

"Say!" ejaculated Blake. "You've taken a three-ton lead off my mind. By the way, do you know anything about this Kelly girl?"

"I've spoken to her once or twice. What about her?"

"She isn't a fool. She's rather pretty, too. She's got a strange hold on

"What Was the Delay?" Asked Blake.

Tom, with the idea that the same strange hold will choke some of my cash out of my pocket. It won't. Tell Tom so. So long! I've got to chase over to the Capitol. We'll all be back in a little while for our confab with Standish. You'll keep him here if he comes before we get back?"

"Yes," she replied a little wearily. "I'll keep him here."

CHAPTER XII.

The Forlorn Hope.

For a minute or so after her father had left her, Grace Robertson busied herself in laying away her hat and furs and in putting a stray feminine touch here and there to various details of the room's disarranged appointments.

But another woman could have seen how very mechanical all Grace's movements were. At every step in the hall outside the suite, she paused and seemed to brace herself as for some ordeal. When at last the electric buzzer announced a caller, she moved with perfect calmness to the door, as though to admit a stranger. But at sight of the figure on the threshold of the opened door, her hard-won composure changed to a rigid stiffness. For the visitor was not Standish.

It was Wanda Kelly.

"May I come in, Mrs. Robertson?" asked the girl nervously, glancing behind her as she spoke.

A cold inclination of the head gave the desired permission. Wanda entered, looked about; then waited while Grace closed the door.

"You know me?" asked the girl.

"I think so," returned Grace, in no measure unbending. "You are Miss Kelly, aren't you? The phone girl downstairs?"

"Yes. I got one of the boys to mind the switchboard while I came up. Is— is any one in there?" she continued, glancing toward the door that led to the inner rooms of the suite.

"No one," said Grace. "Why do you ask? Is your business with me so very private?"

"Yes. So private that I don't know how to begin."

She paused. Grace would give her no assistance; but stood watching the younger woman with the air of one who coolly waits for a dead-beat to bring the conversation to the begging point.

"I don't know how to begin," Wanda faltered once more.

"Indeed?" queried Grace.

"You haven't heard anything," asked Wanda. "They haven't told you? Your father hasn't told you anything about me?"

"Please be more explicit."

"You have heard!" exclaimed Wanda. "And yet you can stand there as if nothing had happened."

"Nothing has happened that could cause any of us real nervousness. This boyish folly of my brother's—"

"Your brother's?" echoed Wanda in a bewildered whose genuineness Grace could not doubt. "Have they dragged him into it, too?"

"Miss Kelly," said Grace, "we seem to be talking at cross-purposes. Will you kindly come to the point? What is it you think I have or haven't heard?"

"About their scheme to wreck Mr. Standish—"

"Mr. Standish!"

The exclamation was out before Grace was well aware of it. But she managed, none the less, to give the quickly spoken words a turn of civil inquiry, and her face did not change.

"Yes," hurried on Wanda. "They're digging up the old scandal. They've unearthed it all except the Woman's name. They must get that before they can go ahead. When they get that name they'll use the story to ruin him—and her."

"Yes?" returned Grace, her sweet voice bare of emotion and her expression one of polite boredom. "And why should you come to me with this story? I am not interested in the seamy side of politics."

"Oh, all right," said Wanda despondently. "If that's the way you take it, it's no business of mine. But you're Tom Blake's sister and I couldn't let you run into the trap without warning you. I've done it. And I've been called impertinent for my pains. When I first found out it was you who were mixed up in the case, I said to myself: 'Let Jim Blake go ahead. Let him hit out in the dark at the Woman, and smash his own heart with the blow. It'll be fair. Then, I got to thinking it over. And—well, I found I couldn't quite bring myself to pay off my own debts by spoiling another woman's life. I guess I'd be a failure at politics,' she ended with a little laugh of self-disgust. "That's all, Good-by."

"And so," said Grace slowly, "you came to me—just to help me? You didn't think for an instant that, out of gratitude, I might help you?"

"Help me? How?"

"By making it easy for you to carry out your idea of marrying my brother? Perhaps by using this scandal story as a threat to force me into helping you?"

Wanda looked at her for a full half-minute in blank silence. Then, turning to the door, she said:

"I guess I was a fool to butt in."

"One moment!" interposed Grace; adding, as Wanda paused: "You—you made certain insinuations about me. Just now. You must prove them—you must give me your reasons for the absurd supposition that I might know anything about this Standish scandal."

"Mrs. Robertson," replied Wanda, her hand still on the door-knob, "I'm not in your class. I don't know just how women in your station of life manage such things. But it seems rather tough that you can't find a way to defend yourself without insulting me. Let that go. You want to know how I found out? I'll tell you. Early this evening Mr. Standish learned of this scheme to wreck him. He knows the story couldn't be used without the Woman's name. And Blake bluffed him into believing the machine would have the name before midnight. Mr. Standish's first thought was to warn the Woman. Just as Blake had known it would be. He called up your house in New York."

"What of that? I was not at home this evening. I was on my way here to—"

"But Mr. Standish didn't know that."

"And," pursued Grace fiercely, "just because Mr. Standish chanced to call up my husband's New York home, you've evolved this insane theory. What proof is there—beyond your unbacked word—that he called up my house?"

"The time-card at central. A list of all calls is forwarded every evening to central and—"

"That proves nothing!" declared Grace. "Nothing at all. Oh, it's a pretty trick you're playing, Miss Kelly. A very pretty trick. But it will fail. You build it all on the statement that some one called up the house of Governor Robertson. Fifty people call up our house every day. And on the strength of that, his wife is to be involved in a story of low intrigue—Oh, it's outrageous!"

"Will Mr. Standish explain to your husband why he called you up?"

"He didn't call me up. Mr. Standish could have had nothing to say to me. He'll deny every charge you make. And my word will be believed ahead of a blackmailing phone girl's. I need simply say you tried to gain my help by means of threats to—"

"You need simply say it? Will you swear to it?"

"Yes!" flashed Grace. "If the need arises. A woman's reputation isn't destroyed so easily as you seem to think, Miss Kelly."

"And the country hotel proprietor?" asked Wanda. "I forgot to say they've sent for him. He can identify the Woman who was registered as 'Mrs. Fowler'—He—"

"Do you suppose, for one moment," said Grace, white to the lips, "that my husband would subject me to the indignity of being looked over like a common criminal? I need only tell the truth—deny the whole malicious lie—and—"

"Oh!" broke in Wanda, with reluctant admiration, "you're brave, Mrs. Robertson! As brave as they make them. You're putting up a glorious fight. And I can't help liking you for it. Because I know—behind the brave front—you're sick with fear."

"You think—"

Dinner Stories

Mrs. Crocker was enjoying her first trip abroad. Her husband had recently acquired great wealth, and although she knew that her knowledge of society was vague, she did not wish others to ascertain the fact.

One evening she was invited to a box party at a theater. Seated next to her was one of the leaders in society, Mrs. Stone.

"I had the acoustics of the house very bad," remarked Mrs. Stone, "don't you?"

"Yes, it does seem so," replied Mrs. Crocker, thoughtfully. "I understand it comes from a brewery in the neighborhood."

Even doctors are not always literal in their prescriptions.

"You must take exercise," said the doctor to a patient.

"The motor car in a case like yours gives the best exercise that I can afford."

"But I can't afford a car on insurance pay," the patient growled. "Don't buy one, just dodge 'em!" said the doctor.

A Denver capitalist said bitterly:

"GETS-IT" The Only Thing For Corns!

The Corn Cure on a New Plan—Gets Every Corn Quick and Sure.

You've tried a lot of things for corns, but you've still got them. Try the new, sure, quick, easy, painless way—the new corn cure, "GETS-IT." Watch it get rid of that corn, wart, callus or bunion in a hurry. "GETS-IT" is as sure as time. It takes two seconds to apply—that's all. No bandages to stick and fuss over, no saws to make corns sore and turn into flesh raw and red, no plasters, no more knives and razors that may cause blood poison, no more digging at corns. Just the easiest thing in the world to use. Your corn days are over. "GETS-IT" is guaranteed. It is safe, never hurts healthy flesh.

Your druggists sell "GETS-IT," 25 cents per bottle, or direct if you wish, from Dr. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

BY WALT MASON

A blessing on those modern schools in which we mortals find a way, by means of simple rules, to keep our facts in mind. The man who cannot recollect his front side MEMORY from his rear, may get SCHOOLS. His latitude correct by mind becomes a fine case in which he stores away the helpful facts, each in its place, for use some future day.

And men who once were failures rank have learned to nail the seals; they're presidents of trust and bank—according to the ads. Schools do a noble work, indeed, we're deeply in their debt; and now a school we greatly need to teach us to forget.

We poison all our pleasures here; we keep old woes in mind, and nurse stale grudges by the year, which should be left behind. We worry over divers stakes we vainly tried to win; we brood upon our ancient breaks when we should blithely grin. This little life is speeding fast; the wise man gaily bumps, and lets the spectacles of the past go hang or bump the bumps. Over vanished things, like dreary toils, we fuss and fume and fret; and so I say we need some schools to teach us to forget.

Policeman Alexander Kilmer, of Johnston, N. Y., says that while he was taking Father John's Medicine he gained 15 pounds.

Mrs. G. A. Goodwin of Blossburg, Pa., says: "My boy gained 30 pounds while he was taking Father John's Medicine. It is a grand body builder."

"I gained 30 pounds taking Father John's Medicine," says M. Crosby, 3161 8th Ave., New York City.

If you have any difficulty in securing Father John's Medicine from your druggist write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for a large bottle by express, prepaid.
